CONFERENCE ON UNION

The Sessions of the First and Central Prosbyterian Churches met iast night to confer on the union of tho two churches. All members were present and after a very free exchange of views It was the unanimous judgment of the conference that the two churches should unite.

By the Presbyterian system this must be ratified by the people and by the Presbytery In April.

These churches have been worshipplng and working together for several weeks, and If as expected the union is consummated as mentioned above it will make a very strong church and should be a great power for good in this community.

Owing to the dense masses of supporting troops, however, the enemy is able to replenish his forward line with fresh units.

The weather remains dry, thus favoring the enemy. British airmen last night made veritable pandemonium of every center of concentration of traffic behind the Gorman front. Tens of thousands of rounds were fired point-blank into enemy formations, while airmen fulfilled effectively their role as eyes of the artiliery.

Yesterday was the supreme day for the British gunners, says the correspondent. Attacking from north of Ervillers to the point of British contaet with the French, the Germans were held up nearly everywhere by the ceaseless intensity of the British Masses of enemy troops, which, coming forward in waves, again and again attempted to reach their objectives, met with the same fate as the Old Guard at Waterloo. In only one sector, near Sapignies, dld they succeed in bending back the British front. It is known that the allied war council at Versallies created a great strategic reserve of men to be used n just the contingency which confronts the armles which have borne the brunt of the fighting since last Thursday morning.

This force probably will be lannched when and where it is believed it will break the force of the Oerman onslaught and send the enemy reeling back over the front from which the British have slowly withdrawn.

Each succeeding day reveals the plan of the Germans absolutely to crush the allied lines west of Cambral, a terrain which could not be defended by Von Hindenburg a year ago. From a recent Washington dispatch we take this interesting ed resentment from the chairman of description of what the correspondent calls a "typical day" at the

"In the house, an unsnecessful effort was made to have that hody resume consideration of the railroad measure which Director Ger. eral MeAdoo is pressing. But the chamber decided to sidetrack action on rails in order to consider a joint resolution 'authorizing the erection on the public grounds in the city of Washington of a statue of James Buchanan, a former president of the United States.' Those who favored action on the railroad bill began filisbustering against the bill for the statue, with the result that two hours was spent in ealling the roll for a quorum. When the house finally reached the point of passing the measure under consideration, it was found that it could not be enacted because an engrossed copy of it had not been received."

The senate wasted the day in similar trivialities.

Congress had been in session three months, and in all that time lieve the Senate of the annoyance that had enacted only on important piece of war legislation, the declaration of war against Austria Hungary. It had found time, though, to order an investigation of a visionary inventor's perpetual motion machine, and the construction of two bridges over rivers several thousand miles from the war zone.

Meanwhile there were pending such vital measures as these:

The railroad control bill. The war finance bill.

Sixteen annual appropriation hills totalling $13,000,000,000.

The bill to extend food control.

The bill to draft men who have reached 21 since June 5, 1917.

The bill to co-ordinate activities of the various federal departments through authority of the president.

The country is getting tired of the interminable talking and He intends to ascertain whether the puttering of men who ought to be legislating for the big war. The country wants action.

The new easulaty lists from France will henceforth be published without the home address of the men killed or wounded, because, it is said, the details might be of value to the enemy. We ean hardly see why. There are probably a thousand John Smiths in the army-and of course, if that name should appear in a easualty list, the entire thousand had been killed. To that extent, the situation might prove confusing to the enemy. Put the fact that only one John Smith is killed and he the one bailing from Raleigh, North Carolina. ean hardly be of great military value. The chief result of the new order of things is that all the families of all the John Smiths will be thrown into grief until they can learn which one of the thousand it is who has given up his life for his country.

The work to be done by the capital issues committee ereated in the War Finance Corporation Bili will be greatly simplified and complications avoided by an amendment put into the iteed Smoot of Utah. It reads as foilows: "lasues of shares or securities heretofore made, only n part of which has been sold or disposed of prior to the approval of this act, shall not be affected thereby." In other words issues of stock in process of flotation at the time of the passage of the net will not brought under the serutiny of the capital issues committee to determine if the issue is "compatible with the public interest." To give the committee power to stop the sale of a stock part of which is aiready in the hands of the public evidently would lead to great confusion and uncertainty, a condition that Senator Smoot's amendment will obviate. When the government began to organize this voluntary service nmong boys, so as to meet, the inevitable shortage of mnn-power, the skepties and fauit-finders got busy. They said that boys llving in cities and towns never could be induced to work on farms that farmers didn't wnnt to have the town boys around because they would prove to be green or iazy or indifferent, and the whole thing was a fool contraption.

Doesn't your common gense and your knowledge of addition and subtraction tell you that if we suddenly take 1,000,000 or more men right out country we must either find a million of the productive industries of this men to take their places or else go short of production?

Are we going to do as they have done in England-dress the women and girls in men's garments and put them to cleaning the streets and making explosives and wiping up iocomotives In round houses and doing all the hard menial tasks? We mustn't come to that-not while we have on the President. The whole plan is hand a whole army of young fellows between 16 and 21, nearly every one of whom has gone in for some kind of athletic sport and Is physically able and would be as mad as a hornet if you told him he was a mama's pet
